MFL3: to be able to say what you have in your bag and to understand adjectival agreements

In French, as you have seen, adjectives (describing words) generally follow the noun they describe. They also have to agree with this noun depending on whether it is masculine, feminine, singular or plural.

Using the example sentence to help you write eight further sentences to say what you have in your school bag.

Dans mon sac j'ai une trousse noire - In my bag I have a black pencil case

- 1) White rubber
- 2) Blue pen
- 3) Black mobile phone
- 4) Green pencil case
- 5) Grey calculator
- 6) Yellow pencils
- 7) Red rulers
- 8) Brown exercise books

MFL4: to be able to recognise descriptions of a family and to be able to write about your brothers and sisters.

Exercise 1 - Match up the sentences

1) J'ai un frère	a) I have two sisters and a brother
2) J'ai une soeur	b) My brothers are called John and James
3) Je suis enfant unique	c) I have two sisters
4) Je suis fils unique	d) I have one sister
5) Je suis fille unique	e) I have a sister called Kate
6) J'ai deux soeurs	f) I have a brother called Paul
7) J'ai deux soeurs et un frère	g) I have one brother
8) J'ai un frère qui s'appelle Paul	h) I am an only child (f)

MLF4 (cont'd...)

Exercise two

Write a short account about your family. You can include brothers, sisters, parents, aunts, uncles or grandparents.

You should not write any more than about fifty words.

MFL5: to write a written account about your self and other people

By now you have learned how to describe your personality and your hair and eye colour.

Now is your chance to put this into a written account about yourself.

You must also pick two other people one male and one female and you should describe their personalities and hair and eye colour. Each of the three paragraphs needs only to be between 20-30 words

MFL6: to revise for the assessments

You will soon be expected to complete your end of term assessments including a speaking assessment. To help you to revise your teacher will provide you with a prompt sheet. It is really important that you try and prepare answers for the assessment, and the best place to start is by looking over all of the different areas you have covered in lessons and in the tasks you have completed at home. Good luck!
